

Holiday Drinking Game

CAN BE USED WITH ANY HOLIDAY BOOK OR MOVIE

Take a drink if...

One of the MCs is a corporate businesswoman/man.

Either of the MCs works for (or is trying to save) a family business.

Someone is heading to a small town for the holidays.
Take two sips if it's for a job or an assignment; or if they're returning to their hometown.

Take another sip if he or she could receive a promotion or lose their job, depending upon the outcome.

Someone goes holiday shopping or ice skating, drinks hot chocolate, bakes Christmas cookies, takes a sleigh ride, builds a snowman, engages in a snowball fight, or sings a Christmas carol (one sip every time any of those actions occurs. Sorry, not sorry).

Mistletoe makes an appearance. Two sips if someone actually kisses underneath it.

Someone goes shopping for a Christmas tree. Two sips if they decorate it.

Anyone attends a Christmas tree lighting event, a community festival, or goes caroling. Drink any time any of these are mentioned.

A couple slow dances. Two sips if they dance to a Christmas song.

There's an almost-kiss. Take another shot when the first kiss finally happens. Finish your drink if the kiss happens in the snow.

There's a holiday wedding or engagement.

The MC ends up moving back to their hometown.

www.PGForte.com